

Greetings Dear Sisters of the Holy Light, Dear Ones of Eternal Creation, Seekers of the Divine Wisdom of the Way of Grace; It is Isis and I am here in great reverence to the unfolding of your journeys.

My stature is resilient as I am embodying each and every one of you to hold The Way of Grace within your human forms. You see the waters at this time are rising in the Nile, the waters are rising in honor of the full moon that is offering us to bathe in her luminous light. The waters of the Nile are mirroring the waters within your wombs. For the waters are representative of your feelings, your emotions. You see each and every month our Great Mother allows us the offering to sit upon her soil with our bellies full of her healing waters, you feel the waters expand within your wombs, within your solar plexus at this time. The waters are readying you to dispel, to release, to cleanse, to purify, to heal, to grow, to evolve.

You see Dear Sacred Sisters, you are mirrors of our Great Mother and the Cosmos; you are a holographic symphony of energetic enlightenment. It is my offering, my desire to assist you in remembering that these ebbs and flows of the cosmos are your signpost to sit, to feel, to hold space like a mother holds space for her children. You are worthy of that space to be held for yourself.

Make no mistake that the waters of renewal are churning now. We are at a time and place within the cosmos where the intensity of the Sophiel runs deep and wide. The waters of resurrection are here for you to embody their tides ride upon their waves and bring present moment clarity to any and all thought form and patterns within your psyche that are causing you to feel a frequency of dis - ease. It is the natural rhythm, the pulse of the Great Mother's heart to assist you with finding balance once again within the rhythmic harmony of her inherent state of being.

The innate sense of resonance of our Divine Mother is love, is calm, is serenity, is peace, is nurturing. You see our collective civilization has become astray from their natural harmonic, their inherent shared heart beat with Mother Gaia. And this in essence is the cause of the waves of turbulent emotion to overcome your being and feel as if you are sinking, or you are at a loss of your own power, or that you are not one with the Creator, that you are separate fleeting entity that is lost and disconnected to home.

What I wish for you to feel Dear Souls is that this path of remembering does not have to be treacherous, this path of coming home does not have to be hard, this path of coming home can be lead by The Way of Grace when you allow yourselves to become present with the natural rhythm of your bodies, and the shared imprint you inherently hold with the Divine Mother.

See this moon as a beckoning for you to set a new course of finding your rootedness within your bodies to mirror the grace of the cosmos. You see Dear Hearts, when you allow yourselves to live in the pure presence of each and every breath, you find peace within your heart. For there is no shadow that can lurk in the presence of breath, the presence of breath is the Creator's Light flowing through you with omnipresence, with grace, with love.

It is now the I offer you to bathe in the moons healing luminescence and feel the waters of renewal cleanse any and all stagnant treads of past conditioned patterning for the preparing of your vessels to feel the fluid purity of the waters of resurrection flowing through your crown, into your heart, sweeping through your solar plexus and your sacral, as it flushes though your root into the hearth of our Divine Mother Gaia where she readies Herself to soak in the released and birth again anew, as You. My Dear Hearts, ready yourselves to birth again anew.

I am here now with the Divine Goddess Mother Quan Yin. She stands next to me in her silken robes, the color of the dove's ivory wings dappled with the etching of cherry blossoms signifying the rebirth, the renewal, the resurrection of life within a physical form.

She offers you her chalice of rose quartz to sip her sweetened nectar of abundance, of vitality, of peace, of harmony, of unconditional love that she has blessed for you to drink from. As you sip the nectar from her chalice, feel the sweetness of its offering for you to feel and Be -come all of the splendors that this world has to offer you.

You are a child of the holy light, a being of the most high. It is your birthright to live in the savoriness of creation here upon this Earth as you reconnect with your divinity, your light, you become this infallible beacon that can move mountains on behalf of the Creator's will to awaken the brothers and sisters who have been in deep slumber. It is through your willingness to awaken and rise that you create the pathway for others to walk The Way of Grace.

And it is so,
And it is Holy,
And it is Good,
And it is Now.

Blessed are you Scared Hearts,
Blessed are you.

Om mane padre hum
Om mane padre hum
Om mane padre hum

OM MANE PADME HUM

It begins with OM, which is the sound of creation coming into form. OM clears your mind of self-hating thoughts and resonates your awareness with the high frequency truth that you are a sovereign creator.

MANI means the jewel and the jewel is you. Every facet of your whole divine self already exists just as you are. MANI reconciles your awareness to unconditionally accept your perfect divine nature in human form.

PADME means the lotus and it represents your body awakening as the vehicle for your Higher Self.

HUM is the sound of compassion that clears all your suffering, across all your lifetimes, by honoring the totality of your true nature.

As you speak my mantra of compassion, may the Breath of Life passing over the waters of your tongue open your heart to live a lifetime of unconditional divine love and compassion for yourself.
