

Wardens of Light, Isis Channeled Message via Dana Livoti

The trajectory that is before you Sacred Ones, is one of grand transformation. The transformation in the lessons that are awakening now deep within the core of your knowing.

It is Isis. I am here with you Dear Bringers of Light. You have beckoned me and I am here rising within your hearts, rising within your wombs. The wombs of creation, the wombs of the awareness of the strength of who you All are. The strength that lies within the wombs of woman.

We need at this time to bring forth the wisdom of the ancient owl medicine, the medicine of the divine light that lies within your embodiment, the embodiment that is felt when you connect to this eternal sacred light; the light of the moon that is illuminating her power.

At this time, Sacred Ones, begin to feel yourselves rooting and securing into her hearth, her warmth, her deep knowing, as she sits gleaming her light upon you All, illuminating the treads of encircled karmic patterning.

She looks to her Warden's light, the Wardens of Light to soar down into your realities and bring understanding to what is in need of transformation. Take heed now into the breath of the Wardens of Light, the Owl medicine, feeling into your owl's message, feel into your owl's calling, the truth that is spoken now by the owl is that sacredness of what is necessitating change, upheaval, growth, and expansion.

Deep within your wombs Sacred Ones, lies the power, the strength, and the fortitude to call forth timelines that are worn, shackled, and strangled in veiled light that are wanting to be seen. The shadow of karmic patterning is rising now into the awareness of your being. It is through your being, the sensations that you feel within your wombs that are beckoning you to heed their calling now.

Sacred Ones, these timelines that are wanting your focus are the timelines of masked comfort, to veiled security, of falsehoods in a a sense, they are the conditioned treads that you have become accustomed to, the trappings of false security.

Take heed in the illumination of our Sacred Mother, the divine magic of the Moon's light to illuminate the shadow and allow for the rise of newness to emerge. Take heed of your Owl's message to walk freely into a new path, into the light that has no harbored, no controlled treads.

For you see Beloved Ones, as you walk into the light of the unveiled moon with your owl by your side you begin to slowly turn and see the footprints of timelines past, beginning to merge into the light as you look forward into the new rising, the becoming of You surefooted in her own breath, her own light, the security of her own being.

For the solace that she seeks, she knows is found within within the hearth of her womb, the pulsation of her heart and that divine light that reflects from her being. She knows that she is All, that she is Divine, that she is fearless, as she walks steadfast into the light rooting her new becoming.

What is it Sacred Ones that you are holding within the chests that are locked and buried in your wombs, that you have been karmically holding onto for millennia? Open the chest, take inventory, see its contents through the eyes of your Owl's wisdom, give them to your Sacred Owl to take flight, and disperse of them into the night sky where Mother Moon will illuminate them, transmute their shadows and merge them back into the light, allowing your chests to be clean, empty, and free,

As you set them aside, and walk unabashedly free, clean, and whole, into the becoming of You.

It is Isis.